PA NEWC OBSERVES
Just as the crowds were coming downtown from the high school football game on Saturday afternoon, a fire alarm was sounded from box 28, which brought several fire engines racing to the most congested center, Mill and Washington streets.

Slow moving trucks on the hills on Pennsylvania highways are certainly a traffic hazard when the highways are full of autos, as was the case on Sunday. Long lines of cars were held up and forced to climb hills at a snail's pace because a huge truck was slowly moving up a curving hill route. Some remedy for this situation in Sunday traffic is desirable.

Hundreds of auto parties flocked into Slippery Rock on Sunday afternoon, attracted by the fire ruins of the girls' dormitory which was burned Saturday. Traffic was obliged to move slowly for several miles from the town in all directions during the afternoon because of the dense traffic.

Prepare To Resume Classes At Slippery Rock On Wednesday

(International News Service)
SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Oct. 18.—Classes today were scheduled to resume Wednesday at Slippery Rock State Teachers college despite the spectacular fire Saturday which destroyed North Hall and resulted in $500,000 damage.

The fire drove 167 co-eds and five faculty members, who lived in the hall, the college's principal women's dormitory, from their quarters, many in thin attire.

Temporary quarters were being set up today in two gymnasiums, the "Y" hut and in downtown homes. Doubling up in South Hall was also expected to help alleviate the housing situation created by the fire.

The fire caused cancellation of the football game Saturday with Westminster and other features of the homecoming program planned for 6,000 alumni. A benefit dance and movie were held, however, at which more than $200 was raised.

Faculty members contributed another $600 to the benefit fund. The money will be used to purchase books, classroom supplies and, in some cases, clothing for students.

The fire was expected to cause alterations in the $842,000 building program projected by the general state authority for additions to Slippery Rock college. More than $200,000 had already been appropriated for an addition to the destroyed dormitory.

The fire started in the kitchen Saturday morning. What caused it is still unknown. It was discovered by a night fireman at the power house who noticed smoke issuing from the kitchen and called the fire company. Fire companies from surrounding communities also responded.

Japan Continues To Win In Warfare Being Waged
In North China

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
SHANGHAI, Oct. 18.—Chinese troops today hurled back a gigantic Japanese offensive north of Shanghai as the metropolis emerged from a moonlit night of terror during which seven air raids were staged by Chinese pilots.

More than 1200 Japanese were killed in a long battle when the Japanese army tried to push a salient through the strong Chinese entrenchments and cut off the forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in Hangkew and Chapel.

Chinese Claim Success
Tanks and mobile artillery were thrown into action, but wave after wave of Japanese were rolled back without registering any material gain, the Chinese claimed.

The northern campaign of the doughy General Chu Teh gathered momentum as he used his full force of nearly 200,000 former communist soldiers in a drive to isolate completely the 50,000 Japanese now trapped in northern Shansi before aid reaches them.

His troops, now the eighth route army, have besieged the city of Yungping, 65 miles north of Taiyuan.

Severance of economic relations with Japan by all adherents to the nine-power pact is the result that China hopes will come from the parley to be held in Brussels Oct. 20.

China quickly accepted Belgium's invitation to the conference, but a government spokesman said the governments involved would be failing in their obligations to uphold (Continued On Page Two)

Admit 40,000 Italians Fight In Spain's War

ROME, Oct. 18.—Officially admitting there are "about 40,000" Italian "volunteers" fighting with the insurgent forces in Spain, a government news agency today bitterly attacked foreign "exaggerations" of the extent of Mussolini's aid to Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The newly-created official organ Corrispondenza Diplomatica, disclosed the 40,000 figure and charged that persons responsible for exaggerating this amount abroad were intentionally creating a "war psychosis."

In the past, however, reliable Italian authorities have been chary in the extreme about estimating the number of soldiers battling with Franco.

Mrs. W. J. Howley, of North Shenango street, a member of the board of trustees of the college, who was summoned to Slippery Rock Saturday afternoon, to talk over plans for the future made necessary by the grave emergency created by the fire, stated this morning that no definite rebuilding plans were discussed.

MADRID, Oct. 18.—The famous Lister international brigade, composed mostly of French, Russian, British and a few American volunteers, took over a sector of the front line today as Loyalist forces hammered slowly westward in the greatest battle of the civil war.

Two other brigades, supported by airplanes and 50 tanks, flanked the Lister unit in a violent attack near Ebro, toward the north of the long Aragon front, north of Saragossa.

A total of around 400,000 troops was said to be engaged in the immense struggle, which the Loyalists hope will give them a material advantage in the east before the weather gets colder.

Overwhelming insurgent assaults were successful, however, on the Bay of Biscay front, it was admitted here.

Thousands Go To Slippery Rock To See Fire Ruins

Girls' Dormitory Ruins Attract
Motorists From Many Miles On Sunday

Motorists from miles around flocked to Slippery Rock on Sunday to see the ruins of the girls' dormitory at the college, which was leveled by fire on Saturday morning.

The heavy traffic started during the early afternoon, and by the middle of the afternoon hundreds of cars were slowly wending their way along all of the roads leading to the college town. Automobiles on their way to the fire ruins were lined up at least two miles from the town on every route, and were merely creeping along.

In Slippery Rock was found a serious traffic problem. Cars lined both sides of all the streets in the town. Autoists on side streets found it nearly impossible to again get their machine out on the main route because of the long lines of traffic.

At the ruins, it looked like a grand march, as many spectators started at one side and walked completely around the ruins intently gazing down upon the still smoldering remains

KATHERINE McGRATH BRIDE OF A. BAUMAN

An informal, simple wedding ceremony, uniting two New Castleites, Miss Katherine Ina McGrath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McGrath of 426 Laurel boulevard, and Albert W. Bauman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bauman, Sr., of 306 Winter avenue, took place in Highland U. P. church Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Dr. D. L. Ferguson officiated with the ring service.

The vows were pledged in the presence of an assemblage of friends and relatives, before a beautifully banked altar. Ferns, palms and fall flowers of the season artistically arranged with consummate skill by the florist and lighted candles in tall branching candelabrum completed the setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor length velvet creation of royal blue. It was patterned with tiny buttons down the back and the sleeves were elbow length. She wore her great-grandmother's brooch at the V-neckline as her only ornament. Her accessories matched, and her elbow length gloves were of white suede. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Walter S. McGrath of William, Conn., sister-in-law, served as matron of honor. She was attired in a dusty rose taffeta gown, made floor length, with burgundy accessories. Her accompaniments matched, and she carried an arm cluster of snap dragons and Tallis-man roses.

George S. Bauman was his brother's best man.

Preceding the approach of the bride party, A. H. Hulbert of Pittsburgh, vocal soloist, contributed "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me" with Mrs. J. L. Reed, organist, as his accompanist. The latter also played a group of other selections throughout the ceremony.

Following a short congratulatory period, a wedding dinner for members of the bride party and immediate families of the young couple, was served in the church dining room. Places were laid for 30 guests at the banquet tables, prettily decorated in the nuptial motif. The additional tiered wedding cake, surmounted with a tiny bride and groom, centered the bride's table. Tall lighted tapers at either end and clusters of chrysanthemums completed the arrangement, carrying out a theme of pink and white.

Later, the bride and groom left on a motor trip to New York City and other places of interest. For going away, she wore a brown traveling costume ensemble, with arbor green accessories.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McGrath was attired in a duobonnet velvet with matching accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. Bauman, wore burgundy crepe trimmed with transparent velvet and black accessories. Both had shoulder corsages of gardenias.

Mrs. Bauman is a graduate of New Castle high school. She attended Nurses Training school at Sibley Memorial hospital in Washington, D. C., for a year, and for some time she has been associated with the local Johnson Bronze offices. Mr. Bauman attended New Castle high school and is affiliated with the New Castle Hot Top, a subsidiary of the New Castle Rectories, located at New Galilee, where they will reside upon their return home.

All were stunning in rust velvet creations, each gowned alike, wearing gold accompaniments. Their nose-length veils, were caught with a gold flower, in crown effect. They carried old fashioned bouquets, of Tallis-man roses, against quaint lace paper doilies. Little Ann Batchelor, cousin of the bride of Monaca, served as flower girl. She wore green taffeta.

The pastor of the church officiated, in the presence of a gathering of guests numbering several hundred. He was assisted by the groom's pastor, Dr. Loudon of Mars. Paul Brown, of Mars, was best man. # DAUGHTERS OF 1812 GUESTS AT SHARON Daughters of 1812 enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Helen P. Reed, Sharon, Pa., who opened her home on Saturday afternoon for their usual assembly. Activities were launched at 2 o'clock. A most impressive memorializing was conducted for their organizing president, the late Mrs. Charles Greer, in which all participated.

Mrs. Marvin Dinsmore, president, was in charge of the business routine. An out of town member present was Mrs. Hazel Eckles Sheen of New York City.

Guest speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. John Howat of Sharon, a former New Castle resident, gave an exceedingly fine address on "Nationalization". Mrs. Howat is an authority on this subject, having a naturalization school in Sharon, which is largely attended, and requires a staff of four teachers. Her message was most instructive and educational.

A social period ensued, with informal pastimes featuring. The hostess served a menu of refreshments before adjourning.

Their next meeting, slated for Saturday, November 20, the Daughters of 1812 will meet with Mrs. A. T. Eckles of the Harbor. She will read on this date a paper on "Sachajawa" that promises to be most interesting, revealing Indian facts. A program of special music will also be given.

RUTHLESS JUSTICE

PHOTOGRAPHS taken immediately following the gun duel in Bangor and showing the bodies of Al Brady and Charles Lee Shaffer lying in the street are grimly expressive of the ruthlessness and the deadly effectiveness with which Federal agents approach their task of dealing with society's enemies. No doubt, this most recent summary action against gangsters will cause a revival of criticism of the tactics of Mr. Hoover's men, who have in the past been denounced by some sensitive souls for what has been characterized as the wanton killing of men who, after all, have not been convicted of crime through the orderly processes of law.

Such tactics are not ordinarily to be encouraged. They are equivalent to the operation of lynch law, which has been responsible for the death of more than one innocent man. But Mr. Hoover's men have been guilty of no such tragic errors. They have been dealing with men of known viciousness, whose status as killers has been established, who had been accustomed to shoot their way out of their difficulties. The Dillingers and their kind are not to be handled carelessly.

Surely, there can be no criticism of the manner in which the Federal agents went about their task of taking Brady, Shaffer and James Dalhovey, the wounded survivor, especially in view of Dalhovey's confession. Within the last few months, according to Dalhovey, this little band of desperadoes had killed an Indianapolis police sergeant, an Indiana State trooper, and a grocery clerk.

They held human life at a cheap price and it is eminently fair that their own valuation should be applied to their own lives.

OUTDOING AUTUMN'S SPLENDORS

"Beauty draws us with a single hair," warned Alexander Pope, but the menace is going to be greater still if some of the hair-stylists of the National and New York State Hairdressers' and Cosmetologists' Associations have their way.

It is sufficiently breath-taking to pronounce the name of this group, but nothing compared with the effect of the show put on at their annual convention. For with beautiful models to excite gasps of admiration by hair of gold, blue and lavender to match their evening gowns, these hair dressers are urging that American women adopt a custom that has been a recent Paris sensation.

In such event beauty will more than "draw us;" we'll come a running. Think of the pride of possession on the part of a husband whose spouse were green or purple hair to match! The coiffure, we are told, is to be worn "tilted upward," perhaps a return to something like the Gibson girl type.

The hair is first laquered and colored powder is sprayed on it while wet. It is all very grand, opines M. Dumas, chief sponsor of the idea. He is not to be confused with the M. Dumas who caused the Three Guardsmen and D'Artagnan to have the headsman of Bethune decapitate Milady. But if you took your girl costumed as Miss Liberty to a fancy dress ball, with red, white and blue hair, resembling nothing so much as a barber pole, you might wish for yourself the easily decapitating ways of Dumas the novelist.

MIGRATORY AMERICANS

The trouble with this town and with most American towns from the village of 300 to the small city of 300,000, is that the population is migratory. Few young people in these villages and towns are building their lives into the community. Most of the young people are merely using the towns as coaling stations passing upward from village to town to city, thinking that someday success lies in the big cities. Which is a major delusion in American life.

This town and all other towns are filled with young chaps who are trying to make good, not for the glory and honor of Emporia, but so that they may leave Emporia profitably! And something precious is lost by this migratory spirit.

These young fellows don't kick in on the town enterprises. They want to see an immediate, quick returnable dollar when they let loose of a dime for public causes; not realizing that the dollar is an investment in life and the satisfaction of living in a liveable community.

So country town life is likely to dry up at its roots. Forty and fifty years ago, young men in this town figured on staying here and making quite a town out of it. They worked for the town because they loved it and lived in it. They knew if they made it a better town they would have a better living. Try that idea on some of these young fellows who are working with one eye on the cash register and the other eye on Topeka, Wichita or Kansas City, and you will get a laugh.

The other day Roger Babson, the great statistician, was asked what would take the place of the vanishing independent merchant in the small town. He said:

"Frankly, I do not know the answer to the question. I, however, do know that men with a financial stake in the community are far more important than the price which we pay for canned soup or peaches. Surely, using chain stores as a subterfuge for sales-tax collectors does not solve the problem!"

So there you are. The problem of the small, and the big town too, is the problem of a migratory population. They go hurrying through our towns and congregate in the great cities where they are lost, swallowed up and live third and fourth rate lives in cubby-holes chiseled in the steel and rock—cave dwellers. When it is too late, they turn their eyes regretfully backwards and babble of green fields.—Emporia, Kansas, Gazette.

The League of Nations is functioning again, with the customary results.

You may "favor" peace, but did you ever see anybody escape a cyclone by merely favoring good weather?

But if prosperity under the New Deal continues, a "darned radical" will be anybody who tries to change the deal.

Funny man! When she shakes him awake and tells him to get another blanket because she is too cold to sleep, he calls it chivalry.

With the approach of Thanksgiving Day we should give consideration to two great blessings—the wide and deep Atlantic Ocean on the one side of us and the wide and deep Pacific on the other.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

HIS POSITION

Andrew W. Mellon is dead and the "wise-ones" and the "wise-crackers" are discussing his record as Secretary of the Treasury of the United States. It has been said many times that Mr. Mellon was the greatest Secretary of the Treasury since Alexander Hamilton, the first Secretary. What Daniel Webster said about Alexander Hamilton in one of his great orations has been re-printed in copy books and readers for several generations.—"He struck the rock of national resources and streams of plenty gushed forth."

Alexander Hamilton had no thought of such taxation as was in existence when Mr. Mellon became Secretary of the Treasury. Alexander Hamilton's sole object was to develop the natural resources of the nation, and to encourage capital to go to work, and for generations that was more or less the thought of Alexander Hamilton's successors, although none of them attained any striking resemblance to Hamilton; in fact, until Mr. Mellon came on the scene, the United States had had practically no great Treasurers.—no men of great vision or great knowledge of how wealth was acquired and what a dollar meant. Since Mr. Mellon passed from the scene, his successors in the administration have not the least conception of what a billion dollars means or how much work and how much vision must be employed in the accumulation of a billion dollars, and yet, joyously, these new Secretaries have aided and abetted the Nation in the spending of not a Billion Dollars, but something like Twenty Billion Dollars.

Mr. Mellon, during his stewardship, reduced the national debt from its wartime size to something like a peacetime affair. He did not accomplish it by increased taxation, but by diminishing it. He knew what every great economist ought to know,—the law of diminishing returns. He knew that you could milk a cow dry.

And because Andrew W. Mellon was brought up in a School of honest finance; because he had a brain that gave him a greater vision than was given to most men of money, he will probably be known by the thoughtful hereafter not as a Secretary of the Treasury, equal to Alexander Hamilton, but as a greater.

OUT OF THE BLACKNESS

A MAN I know is just coming out from a valley of deep and awful sorrow. For more than half a year he has been living in blackness, wondering whether he would ever come out into the light again and be the happy man he used to be. Fearing that he never would.

It began with the influenza last spring. He wasn't very ill, but he was amazed when he left his bed to discover how weak he was. A part of him was eager to be at work again, but another part was tired and bewildered and "depressed." His friends told him that it was sometimes months before a "flu" victim regained his energy, but he didn't believe that. He wasn't used to sickness, he had always recovered quickly, and why should this little sickness hold him down so long.

So, after a few months he decided he was back to normal again. But he was terribly melancholy and pessimistic. He was always tired and he found himself looking out of the dark side of life. For him, in fact, there was no brighter side at all. All was bitterness, disappointment and despair. He walked in gloom and sometimes he was ashamed of himself, but he was too tired when he pitied himself and all other men. And sometimes, too, he was shocked by his own thoughts. He did not contemplate suicide, but he was fascinated by the self-destruction of other men. He brooded over such stories and thought he understood the psychology of human beings who killed themselves.

And then he went to a doctor and answered questions and submitted to an examination.

The doctor put machines on him and told him that an important gland was underactive, that his blood pressure, his blood count and his pulse and heart were all lower than they should be—and even told the man that he had been terribly depressed.

The doctor gave the man medicines to take . . . and the man has been taking them . . . and the man has been able to walk out of that valley of deep and awful shadow. It was a great joy to discover that the shadows were not around him, but within himself, that the cause was only a temporary breakdown of a part of his body, and that the doctor—like a good mechanic—could repair the break and send him forth into a bright world again.

I know all about it—because I am the man who finally went to a doctor and learned what a fool he had been.

TODAY'S STORYTELLER

Dr. J. M. T. Finney of Baltimore speaking at a recent meeting of the Presbyterian ministers' Social Union, told this story:

A man took several bonds into the Bank of England. He laid them on the window, and the clerk, busy with other affairs, took no notice of them for a while. Finally the clerk looked up and asked: "Conversion or redemption?"

"Say," countered the patron, "is this the Church of England or the Bank of England?"

"So often we hear of a man being called 'a dog' as a severe reproach; and yet a dog doesn't swear, doesn't drink, doesn't flirt, doesn't swindle, doesn't cheat, doesn't pretend, doesn't cheat, doesn't double cross those who befriend him and wouldn't resent it if you called him a man."

THE OFFICE BOY AND THE BOSS

"Gee!" sighed the office-boy as his thoughts ascended to ambitious heights. "I wish I was the boss. Some cinch! Come to work any old time. Knock off when you don't feel like working, don't have to ask for a raise—just go and take it—nobody to bowl you out when you make a mistake. Fire anybody you don't like—Gee, I wish I was the boss!"

And then there came a day when the office-boy observed that the mail was not as heavy as it used to be. And he noticed, as he sifted open the envelopes and took out their contents, that there weren't as many checks as he had been accustomed to place in a neat pile. But instead, there were a lot more statements in the mail with the words "past due" which he did not remember having seen before on incoming statements. And although he wasn't supposed to read the mail, he was puzzled by letters from banks which he did not understand, but which looked cold and crackled with an ominous sound that gave him a feeling of uneasiness, and he began to notice too, that the boss didn't smile much these days and sometimes forgot to say "good morning" as he used to when he came in and he observed that the boss was staying in after the others had left, and looked worried and worn as he sat poring over a lot of office-books and papers. And it made the office-boy sad as he perceived that the boss suddenly got to looking old, and it all weighed heavily on his mind as he thought to himself, "Gee, I'm glad I ain't the boss."

And so there came another day, when the office-boy felt that the mail was adding to its weight, and the little pile of checks was getting taller, and he felt too that the letters from the banks did not crackle so much and did not feel so cold. And while the boss was not looking he scrutinized his face and noticed that his brow was smoother and his eyes were clearer. And he thought he recognized that old, carefree activity about him. Whereat the office-boy's latent thoughts began to bestir themselves. And he soon forgot the trials and the tribulations of yesterday as a thought, which had disintegrated itself from the others, slowly emerged and stood at attention before his mind's gaze. "Gee," he sighed, "I wish I was the boss!"

It gets more and more apparent every day that the Supreme Court of the United States is a very important institution. At least with real Americans.

Returning prosperity does strange things. We understand that the sales organization of a large automobile company was all upset last week when a fellow wanted to buy a car for cash.

A man must be unusually big from the chin up, to stand up gracefully under too much praise or an over dose of prosperity.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

Dear Miss Markel: I am an office secretary who has ambitions to become a social secretary. Please tell me the duties required of one in that position.

Answer: Only the very wealthy and socially prominent have need for social secretaries.

Their duties are to take complete charge of the clerical details incidental to the employer's social life—the writing of invitations, acceptance, regrets, keeping a list of engagements. Such a secretary attends to her employer's social correspondence, composing her own letters, wherever possible, or taking answers according to the employer's dictation.

She should check up on all bills and possibly fill in checks for their payment.

Sometimes a social secretary is required to plan dances and other social functions, arrange for the decorations and details of entertainment. She has no special social privileges in the household, unless she is a companion as well as a secretary.

Japan Is Seen As Secure Built Up Stores For War Need Little Now But Oil

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Columnist

JAPAN WILL NOT collapse financially—at least, not soon. Furthermore, a boycott is too late, now. In fact, Japan is boycotting the other nations—in order to conserve cash at home. It built up its war stores long ago. Chief purchases, such as scrap and iron and cotton, were from the United States. Now there are embargoes on many products from abroad.

Japan is vulnerable in only one respect—oil. And she is getting all of that she desires—from American and British oil companies.

Oil could be cut off. That is, the United States could invoke the neutrality act and prevent American oil companies from shipping.

But Great Britain has no neutrality act and never has tried to prevent its oil companies from selling anywhere.

TOO LATE

For a blockade of Japan by British and American fleets—that would be war, no less. And Americans will not be led into such a war.

Even so, some military observers will tell you that it would be too late. Japan already has an empire at its disposal—in north China. It may be an empire that will drain Japan of capital, that will require years of military subjugation, but it is an empire of natural resources.

In short, everything proposed concerning Japan is too late. Her empire is in the process of becoming an accomplished fact.

Nations that fear an aggressive Japan—the Soviet Union, Great Britain, France, Holland and the United States—will have to make the best of it. Great Britain and the United States will be drawn closer to the Soviet Union. The three are becoming very much interdependent, regardless of any political differences.

FASCIST, THEN—?

The financial world looks to Japan to institute rigid control over its entire economic and productive machinery—and to force citizens to walk in a narrow, outlined path. Japan will have Fascist control in every sense.

Japan's yen will become wholly an internal currency, backed by a metallic reserve of some $246,000,000. International dealings would be done by the government through means of credits similar to such operations by the Fascist governments of Italy and Germany.

There is, however, a marked internal difference between Japan and Italy and Germany. The standards of living are far lower in Japan, the burdens far heavier. And the spirit of revolt smolders in Japan, among the masses, which is not true in Germany or Italy. That spirit at present is quenched by the hysteria of war. But when the war ardor dies, when the long cost of "victory" is counted, then will Japan remain Fascist—or turn Communist?

Asia's soil nurtures the seed of Communism more readily than the seed of Fascism.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PROFANITY IN SPORTS SCORED

It seems safe to say that practically every parent wishes his children might not be exposed to profanity used by any person in or about the school. Children do not hear profanity from teachers in the classroom. Nor do elementary school children hear much of it on the playground, thanks to the presence of some teachers there, as a rule.

On the athletic field, however, much profanity may be heard. This is a reason. Many coaches do not hold themselves to so careful standards of temperance in speech as do classroom teachers. During football practice some coaches will actually curse the team or individual players. Profanity, indeed, may be the chief weapon of discipline.

Yet, inasmuch as some great coaches have not used profanity, it would seem necessary to coaching success. Perhaps there is something about football that evokes hardboiledness, of which profanity may be but a symptom. To the coach bent solely on winning games, the boys on his team tend to become mere robots he is molding into a powerful machine. It may be that our coaching system is largely responsible for this attitude; hence the system may encourage profanity.

Teams Not Necessary

Anyway, if coaches must curse our boys in order to train them into a winning team, why have teams at all? Why pay such a price? How can any person dealing with youth cultivate in them a deep consideration for the rights and feelings of others when that person reveals so much regard for a boy's personality as to curse and swear at him?

I wonder how high school principals and school superintendents justify the employment and retention of cursing coaches, and having them just because they can develop a winning team. Should athletic victories be purchased with profanity? What about the consequences in loss of culture and refinement and respect for human personality?

And let me add that I attended a field day last May at a big high school of a famous public school system. I circulated pretty widely among the officials and participants and heard much profanity; and this school habitually turns out winners in football, basketball, track and the like. The superintendent told me that there was a concerted effort through the faculty to cultivate temperance in speech on the athletic field.

CLUB PRESIDENTS

I've never been a president and what I write today

Is merely what I've witnessed in an unofficial way. In the clubs that I belong to every president I've known

Has to bear the members' worries in addition to his own.

They write him endless letters telling him just what is wrong. The water is too hot or cold; the tea too weak or strong;

The apple pies are soggy and the steaks and chops are tough; The medium rare is overdone the well done, not enough.

They wait for him in corners; when at dinner he appears

Some complaining fellow member has a grievance for his ears. A few are being favored and the president should know

Some get the choicest tables for the tips which they bestow.

From the day that he's elected to the ending of his year

The wailing of his fellows is the only sound he'll hear. Even friends will turn upon him

When some trifling goes awry. Yet men seem to want the office—

And I often wonder why (Copyright 1937, Edgar A. Guest)

AID TO RELIEF OF PSORIASIS SYMPTOMS

The itching and irritation of psoriasis is readily relieved by Resinol Ointment, an old formula containing ingredients well known to physicians for their effectiveness.

To get best results, wash off the scales with a pure, mild soap. Resinol Soap is gently medicated and free from excess alkali. Use it with warm water, then rinse and pat dry.

Spread Resinol Ointment evenly over the surface, letting it remain for several hours during the day and over night. Note how quickly its oily base enables the Resinol medication to soothe the angry skin.

Even when the rash begins to fade, do not stop using Resinol too soon. The eruptions of psoriasis have a tendency to recur. Therefore, continue Resinol applications as long as there is any trace of irritation.

are thus guarded, ever gives a thought to the tremendous engineering achievements back of the vast network of pipes underground. Sewers are a much more complicated construction job than water mains because of the necessity of grading them so that water flows downhill continually. ## Reggie Childs Will Play Dance Program In Cathedral Wednesday

"REGGIE CHILDS"

It's one thing to sit at your radio and hear a hot swing band like Reggie Childs broadcasting from the Hotel Roosevelt in New York City but it's something else again to be able to dance to the music of such a widely known radio band in your own Cathedral Ballroom. But it's true, help me and at a price that sounds too good to be true, but is as true as an engineer's micrometer.

Pleased with the reception he has received since opening the Cathedral Theatre, Manager Charles Freeman has wanted to show that appreciation and the opportunity arose when Reggie Childs and his orchestra had two open days. "Will you play the Cathedral in New Castle?" asked Mr. Freeman. "I'll be delighted said Reggie Childs" and so it is all arranged.

Reggie Childs will play a dance program in the Cathedral Ballroom Wednesday night, October 20 from ten until one o'clock. And the price? Just fifty cents per person plus five cents tax Uncle Sam demands. You never heard of such a bargain? Neither did we. Tickets on sale at the box office and Fleming's Music store on North Mill street.

Reggie Childs and his orchestra will appear in person on the Cathedral stage Tuesday and Wednesday night at 7:30 and 9:30. Not only is there this nationally famous band but there are novelty presentations. One of them is "The Three Youngsters—Wilma, June and Ginny, harmonizers, and they are better than their picture shows.

"WILMA — JUNE — GINNY"

through Spain, Greece, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, England and France. She is one of the most traveled of modern platform women. Italy, France, Austria, Germany, Russia, Turkey, England, Norway, Sweden, Scotland and Wales are among the lands which she has visited and whose leaders she has most intimately and interviewed exhaustively.

Mrs. Fuldheim's background is an exceptional one. She was a school teacher when she turned to the stage. The stage was followed by appearances as a public speaker. Next came a demand for her services as a lecturer. In ten years she has appeared before audiences throughout the United States, discussing a range of topics that would cause the average lecturer to pause before undertaking them. Her intimate knowledge of men and affairs, as well as her work as a foreign correspondent, have provided this speaker with an insight that throws aside the immaterial and finds the meat of the subject, presenting it in a manner both interesting and instructive.

To prove the popularity of Dorothy Fuldheim it is only necessary to show how she has delivered more than one thousand paid lectures in her home town of Cleveland. The Federation of Women's clubs, private and charitable organizations, have retained her services, often for the purpose of raising funds, and always the response has been successful.

Dorothy Fuldheim is endowed with a voice of resonance and appeal. A striking figure, she possesses the surety and address which come only through years of stage experience. Her tenure as a foreign correspondent gives her a preciseness not only in viewpoint but the expression of it as well. The result is a lecturer of color and power, ability and appeal.

With such a background, then, is it any wonder that Mrs. Fuldheim ranks as the foremost woman lecturer appearing on the American platform today, for her versatility is as astounding as her ability to comprehend a wide range of topics and digest them for public consumption.

MILLIONS MORE FOR FINER TOBACCOES!

IS IT GOOD BUSINESS TO BUY COSTLIER TOBACCOES FOR CAMELS?

the answer is:
Camels are the Largest-Selling cigarette in America

"YOU BET I've been careful about my nerves. Smoke? All I want to. My cigarette is Camel," says LOU GEHRIG, Baseball's Iron Man. "With Camels I don't worry about jangled nerves."

"I SMOKE Camels and my nerves stay serene and unruffled. You see, I don't want to have those irritating little nervous habits," says window display expert, POLLY FITTIT.

"FROM ANY angle, Camel is the cigarette for yours truly. When I'm tired, I light a Camel and back to work I go with a 'lift' in energy," FRANK MULLADY, auto mechanic, says.

"AS A fashion designer spending long night hours creating new styles, I've grown to depend on the mellow companionship Camels give me," says the famous designer, RENEE MONTAGUE.

The pleasure you get out of a cigarette depends on what's put in it. And in the case of Camels that means finer, costlier tobaccos!

THROUGH the years, Camel has consistently spent millions of dollars more for choice, ripe tobaccos!

That represents a way of doing business that smokers understand and appreciate. Millions of smokers have responded to the appeal of Camel's choice quality. Because of it, Camels have an attraction all their own!

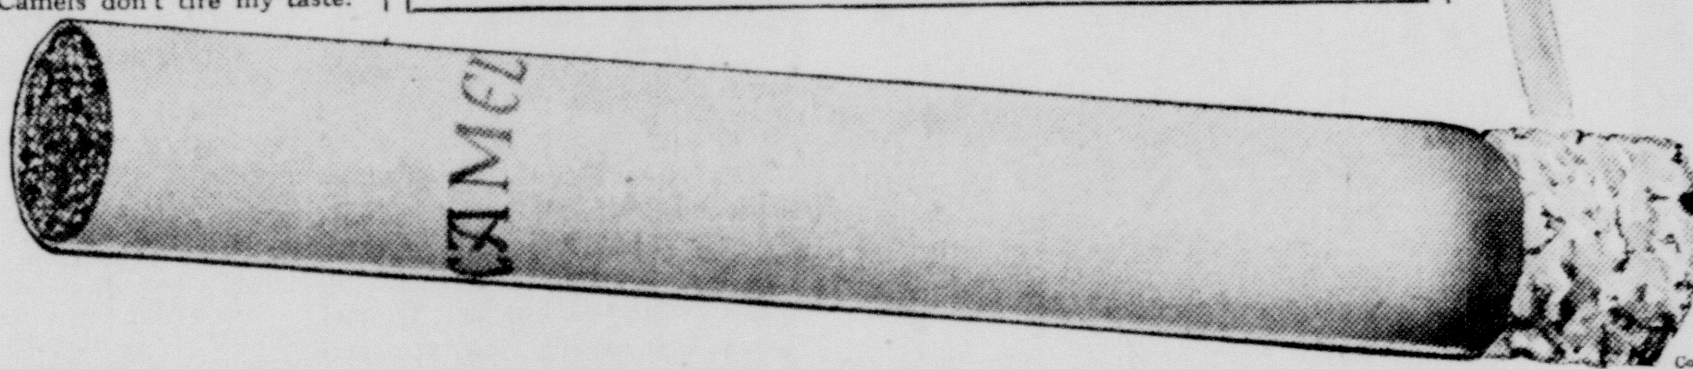

It's a happy experience to have confidence in your cigarette... to know that you are getting the good things out of smoking that you hope for. The plain fact that Camel does spend millions of dollars more for ripe, more costly tobaccos appeals to the common sense of American men and women.

It is good business!

"DUCK, SWORDFISH STEAK, and Boston cream pie—my favorites—aren't the most digestible foods. But with Camels at meals my digestion does a swell job," says BRUCE WALLIS, college senior.

"I OFTEN SAY a woman who runs a home needs healthy nerves as much as any athlete. So I smoke the cigarette that I know is mild—Camel," says MRS. ROBERT FENNIMORE, New York housewife.

"FOR YEARS I've chosen Camels. I notice Camels leave no after-taste," remarks MAXINE HOLLEN, department store salesgirl.

County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland calls attention to the fact that the time limit within which delinquent taxes can be paid at face value expires on November 1. Over two thousand taxpayers have already taken advantage of this law, which gives five years in which to pay delinquent taxes, less interest and penalties. The limit for paying county taxes for this year, at their face, also expires on November one. It is suggested that those who desire to pay before the first of the month do so at once as there is always a rush during the last few days.

Local authorities are investigating the record of Arthur Kerestes, 21, of Darlington and Beaver Falls, who is being held in the Lawrence county jail for violation of liquor laws. Beaver county authorities claim that Kerestes is a two-gun masked robber who held up the exclusive Towne Club at Beaver Falls on the morning of October 3. Louis Succo, club steward, claims to have identified Kerestes in the county jail. Kerestes denies the robbery. However C. J. O'Laughlin, county detective of Beaver county has made an information charging him with robbery before Alderman Geo. W. Johnston of Beaver Falls. It has not yet been decided whether he will be returned to Beaver county for trial or will be kept here.

S. Theodore Kotelly has issued an attachment against Nikola D. Ververi, in which the sheriff is directed to attach any money or property belonging to the defendant that may be in the hands of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company.

It has been decided that the proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on at the November election will be on a separate ballot. It looks as though all the amendments will have tough sledding here, and particularly the one under which a state income tax could be levied. Citizens feel that their backs will not stand another straw of taxation.

The Lawrence Savings and Trust Company has filed a suit against the New Castle Milling Company for $14,500. In January, 1928 the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company became the trustee for 40 bonds of $500 each issued by the milling company. The trust company, in its own individual capacity, and not as trustee, became the owner of 29 of these bonds. Interest has been paid on them up to Sept. 30th, 1937 but there is approximately $4000 of back taxes, which have not been paid. It is claimed that owing to the unpaid taxes, all bonds without reference to maturity date, have become due. The bonds owned by the trust company are numbered from 12 to 40.

If there are any judges of election in Lawrence county who do not have a voters guide, for use at the coming November election the county commissioners state that they have a number of copies at their office, which can be obtained. It is important that every judge of election have this guide, so that any questions which may arise on election day, can be readily answered.

The show was a success from every standpoint. President Mrs. Agnes Howley and Howard Butler, chairman of the occasion, through the columns of The News thank all those who aided in making the bird show the marked success it turned out to be. Everything moved along as scheduled.

CALLS SIX TRUCKS

Six fire trucks were called into action Saturday afternoon at 4:50, just at the height of the traffic jam following the football game, when someone pulled box 28 for a small fire in the automobile of Louis Milbert of Martins Ferry, O., on Mill street, just south of Washington.

A cigaret lighter in Milbert's car stuck and became overheated. All that was necessary to extinguish the hot wire was to disconnect the wiring.

Food for China's Millions of Refugees

With thousands of Chinese in the vicinity of Shanghai facing starvation, and other millions of refugees from Japanese shells and planes without food, the arrival of supplies of grain to feed the homeless was welcome indeed. Here, coolies are unloading foodstuffs in the Whangpoo River, for distribution to refugees. The United States cruiser Augusta is shown in the background as the work of mercy is carried on. ### First Picture of England's Composite Plane

Here is the first picture of the English composite plane Maia, flashed by radio from London. The ship is to be used for long distance commercial flights. The aircraft consists of two units—a four-engined seaplane carrying a flying boat on its back. The lower machine helps the heavily-loaded long-distance flying boat to get off to a flying start, thus enabling it to carry twice its usual load. ## IT'S A FACT ...

THAT AT THE MARGARET L. HENRY HOME

The community has provided a home worth $45,000. The average number of children taken care of at the home, 48 boys and girls (children between the ages of 4 and 12) are admitted when eligible and certified by the home's physician. It is supported largely by public contribution, derived from the participation in the Community Chest of New Castle. Proper medical attention is provided by a staff of doctors, without pay. The home has an especially fine record from a health, educational and moral standpoint.

A separate building is used as an isolation hospital. Miss Henry who is superintendent of the home, is assisted by a matron and the necessary help for operating. These people are devoting themselves to this work at a rate of compensation which merely provides for them the bare necessities of life. This is the main reason for the extremely low cost of operation of the home.

The work of the home has always been handicapped by lack of sufficient funds. The difficulties which existed in the past have been considerably aggravated by the present economic conditions and the increase in milk, food and clothing. We find our number of charity wards has materially increased and is still rapidly increasing.

This children's home is the property of every citizen of New Castle and so to assure the carrying on of this outstanding work it must be impressed upon everybody to see that no calamity would befall the home on account of lack of support.

Loses "Write In" Vote In Venango By Court Order

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 18.—A court order, handed down by Judge Lee A. McCracken, refused the petition of District Attorney Maurice P. Breene to be a Democratic as well as a Republican candidate in the November election. Breene had sought to have the cumulative write-in votes on the Democratic ticket. This effort was opposed by Gerald McGill, attorney of Cranberry township, who had received 678 write-in votes.

Judge McCracken ruled that the election laws do not provide for the declaration of a person nominated by more than one party to be one and the same person in such cases, as each party nominates him under a different form of his true name.

Tax Levy Proposed For Fire Department In Mercer District

(Special To The News)
MERCER, Oct. 18.—It is not a bond issue at all, is the correction of press publications announced today by election bureau chief Frank McCommon referring to the question of spending $7500 for fire fighting equipment on which the voters of Hickory township will mark Yes or No at the November 2 election. The question on the ballot is the sole referendum of its kind in 135 years of county history and is as follows: "Shall the Board of Township Supervisors of Hickory Township levy a tax, not exceeding two mills nor $7500, for the purpose of making appropriations to fire companies for the purchase and maintenance of fire apparatus?"

The financing voids a bond issue with attendant interest and municipal debt. The plan is put before the electors as the only solution of much valuable property in the township. Fire insurance rates will be lowered as result of the purchase is the anticipation.

Enon Valley Woman Suffered
From Severe Headaches,
Dizziness, Biliousness, Due
To Constipation. Praised Famous Root And Herb Medicine For Wonderful Relief.

Last week we were pleased to publish the statement of Mr. James Morgan, prominent resident of Enon Valley, who endorsed Vendol for the splendid relief it had brought him. Now we are equally pleased to hear from his wife, who says:

"After my husband had taken Vendol for a short while I noticed a remarkable change in him—he looked much better, was more active than before, and began to pitch in to his meals like his old self."

"I had been troubled with constipation for a long time, which brought on bilious attacks, severe headaches, terrible dizzy spells, and nervous excitability. I decided if Vendol could do so much good for my husband, it would surely benefit me, and I was certainly right. It relieved my constipation very nicely, and soon the headaches, biliousness, dizzy spells and nervousness began to go away. I used to get up with a coated tongue, bad breath and a vile taste in my mouth, but not any more. I can truly say that now I feel simply grand and I give Vendol complete credit. Both my husband and I wish to advise others to take Vendol if they want to have honest-to-goodness relief."

Vendol is an exclusive formula of 12 selected Roots and Herbs combined with mild Alkalines which is like taking many different medicines at once and accomplishing several results at the same time. It brings true relief for constipation, reduces excess acidity in the stomach, acts as a mild diuretic to the kidneys and sharpens the appetite. Its cleansing and invigorating effect will make you FEEL like a new person. LOOK younger.

The "Vendol Man" at New Castle Drug, 33 E. Washington St., will be glad to tell you all about Vendol, and you will also find it on sale at New Castle Drug at 24 N. Mill St. Schwaetzer's Pharmacy, Ellwood City, and at all leading druggists everywhere.

"OUR CLEANING PRICES THE SAME"

Food costs have hit a new high in prices as has dry cleaning in some cases. But . . . not at Britton's. Prices are still close to the 1932 level. Britton's progressed—setting a new standard for quality—giving new finishing processes—Britton-overhead—production costs were reduced due to efficiency, yet paying workmen the highest wage rate in the dry cleaning industry. As a result, Britton prices have not advanced as have others—yet, the quality has continued to reach a new high. # Fiftieth Year Is Celebrated By C. E. Society

Westfield Christian Endeavor Has Golden Anniversary Last Night

CHARTER MEMBERS ARE HONOR GUESTS

Seated in a special section of the Westfield Presbyterian church Sunday evening, some 15 charter members of the Christian Endeavor society were honored guests at the homecoming and Golden Anniversary celebration.

After 50 years of Christian Endeavor in Westfield, the large majority of the 54 charter members still alive are testifying to the results of their early training. At least five of the number are engaged in full time Christian work. Miss Jennie Henry is at the Mountain White Mission, Virginia; Rev. Guy Patterson is pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Brainerd, Minn.; the Misses Lizzie and Berdie Patterson are at the John Brown university in Missouri, and Rev. John Patterson is on leave of absence from regular pastoral work.

Birthday Co-Chairmen.
Miss Jean Brewster and David Woods were co-chairmen of the Sunday evening birthday observance. Miss Ethel Goughier was the pianist.

Miss Wilda Fullerton read the scripture lesson and Charles Shearer, a charter member, offered prayer. Special music was presented by Miss Dorothy Chamberlain and Calvin Jolly of Westminster college, with Clayton Taylor at the piano. Harris McClelland, president of the Christian Endeavor society, extended the welcome to those present. At roll call of the charter members many familiar names were brought to mind. Dr. W. M. Taylor was the first president, with Blanche Fullerton as the first vice president and acting head. The Nesbitts, Dav-idsons, Woods, Fullertons, Duffs, Pattersons, Campbells, McClellands, Hays, Clarks and Gilmores were among the workers.

A silent tribute was paid to Dr. Taylor. Greetings were read from former pastors, Revs. A. J. McCartney, R. E. Porter and Ross M. Harverfield.

Tells Of Early Days.
W. J. Duff gave a short history of the organizations before the C. E. was born. These organizations were called Pastors Aid society and the Westfield Y. M. C. A. More than once groups from Westfield rode horseback to conduct meetings at Princeton and Mt. Hermon churches.

The C. E. society today has an attendance of 25 each Sunday evening.

Rev. Edwin Shoemaker, present pastor, spoke briefly on Christian Endeavor and the future. Christian Endeavor, he said, must present the need of young people to learn how to worship God, the need of Christian friendship and fellowship, and it must develop Christian leadership.

Over 250 young and older people were in attendance from many of the Presbyterian churches of the Shenango Presbytery as well as the Mt. Jackson and Bethel U. P. churches, among them, Plaingrove, Neshannock, Bessemer, Enon Valley, Mahoningtown, Central Unity and Moravia. There was a large representation of the Lawrence County Christian Endeavor Union.

Local Family In Accident In Virginia

Receive Word Today Of Accident Of Bert Coates Family Near Richmond

Word was received here today by relatives telling of an accident which happened to the automobile of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Coates and family, of the Youngstown road, near Richmond, Va., on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Coates, daughters Lenora and Ina Mae and son Ray, have been touring in Virginia for the past two weeks, and according to the report were near Richmond when the accident occurred.

According to the communication, the Coates' machine was rounding a curve in the road and the lights of a truck coming in the opposite direction blinded them. Ray was driving the car and misjudged the distance from the edge of the road and the car slipped over the edge, turning over three times and coming to a halt on its wheels.

Mr. Coates suffered three broken ribs in the mishap and was removed to the Richmond, Va., hospital, where he is still confined. Others in the car were taken to physicians nearby where their cuts and bruises were treated.

The automobile was wrecked and the letter received here did not state when the family will return to their home here.

Vote Now, Fans, And You'll Hear Your Favorite Tunes At Stadium Game Friday

Popular music will fill the air along with martial music at the New Castle-Warren night game at Taggart stadium on Friday, October 22—and the football and music lovers themselves will select the popular pieces that'll be heard!

Everyone who attends football games will get a vote! Everyone will get a chance to hear his or her favorites played.

That became known as Richard E. Rentz, vice president of the Citizens Music Council, announced that Prof. J. F. Repligle's Senior high band is ready to present at the coming games whatever popular selections the spectators want. Repligle said the band would strive to please the audience.

With that in mind, Mr. Rentz today asked football fans to state at once their choices. These must be made immediately so that competent judges—three members of the citizens' council—can decide the numbers the majority want played.

Get your pencil out and mark down your favorites on the following blank and mail to Richard E. Rentz, The News, tonight or Tuesday. Get it in as fast as you can!

The popular music band needs will be financed by the music council, the volunteer group which has been helping the band organization in many ways.

State your selections here:

Death Claims Grid Prospect

George Keddie, 13, Dies Of Injuries In Fall From Apple Tree

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18.—George Keddie, who was only 13 and dreamed a youth's glorious dream of playing for Notre Dame "when he grew up" today had punted the football of life over the goal line of death.

To be a football hero at Notre Dame was young Keddie's one great ambition. But death cheated him of this possibility.

An eighth grade student at St. Mary's school in suburban McKeesport, football was George's paramount interest. Almost daily he practiced the game, kicking and scrimmaging with his father, an amateur coach. To harden his feet, George would take off his shoes when he alighted from the bus returning from school and would walk a mile home barefooted. At night he would practice again with his dad.

Last Tuesday he fell from a tree while picking apples on his father's farm at Boston, Pa. He died yesterday in McKeesport hospital from complications following a compound fracture of the right arm suffered in the fall.

During his delirium, shortly before his death, attendants at his bed heard him whisper: "Give me the ball. It's on the 40-yard line. We have to kick."

A dream punt, whirling toward its target—death.

TAXPAYERS OF NESHANNOCK TOWNSHIP

Ten years ago I spent several hundred dollars trying to tell the taxpayers of New Castle that their School Board was leading them into a hole. I failed to wake them up.

Since then, in spite of a decreasing enrollment, up to and including this year, they will have paid $1,412,500.00 in school taxes over and above what my plan called for, and on top of that: they are today in debt $1,463,000 over and above what my figures called for them to be in at this date, or a total of $2,877,500 more than they would have had to pay if they had woken up.

And the end is far, far away.

I am telling you this October day that your School Board is drifting toward a hole proportionately as large as that of New Castle, and you will be in it before you know where you are, unless you are more vigilant.

Ten years from now (if I live that long) I will be telling you as I am telling New Castle today, "I told you so", which then, as now, will NOT pay off any bonds.

THINK it over. I am getting along in years, and whatever you do will not affect me much.

I have grand and great-grandchildren, to whom I am not ambitious to leave a legacy of indebtedness, especially a debt like that of New Castle, contracted without forethought.

Guardsmen Surround Rhode Island Race Track

Governor Calls Out State Troops

Proclaims Martial Law Because "Civil Law Has Been Violated"

RACE MEET OPENING TODAY IS PREVENTED

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Oct. 18. —National guardsmen, 300 strong, drew a "ring of steel" a mile around Narragansett Park, one of the most profitable horse racing tracks in the world, and prevented the opening of the fall meeting today.

Governor Robert E. Quinn (D) who had proclaimed martial law because "a state of insurrection exists," called out the citizen soldiers in his "battle" with Walter E. O'Hara, general manager of the track. The chief executive calmly faced a movement to impeach him. Harry A. Curvin, public safety director of Pawtucket, and majority leader in the state House of Representatives, said the rights of the civil authorities under the state constitution had been violated. He began polling members of the legislature to secure views on impeachment.

Governor Undisturbed
The governor was undisturbed, pointing out that he alone under the constitution has the power to call a special session of the General Assembly.

All hope of races today was abandoned, as several van loads of horses from Rockingham Park, Salem, N. H., were refused admission to the track, and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad cancelled special trains to Gansett. National guard officials announced that only employees of the service department and officials of the track were permitted to enter the gates.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Ward Resident Has Close Call In Train Mishap

Automobile Stalls On Railroad Tracks And Is Wrecked By Fast Freight

Earl Plotts, of 1021 North Cedar street, narrowly escaped serious injury Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock when his machine was completely wrecked by a fast freight train at Robinson's crossing. Plotts was driving along the old river road between Edenburg and Lowellville, and was crossing the railroad tracks when the back wheels of the car slipped off of the road and down between the tracks.

In attempting to drive out from between the tracks, the motor stalled. Plotts saw the train's glaring headlights coming towards him, not far down the track. With quick presence of mind he opened the car door and jumped to safety.

The eastbound B. and O. freight train hit the machine a few seconds later and carried it down the track about one mile before coming to a halt. The automobile was completely demolished and was caught under the front of the engine.

For nearly an hour the train was held up while an effort was made to remove the car from the tracks.

This is an exceedingly dangerous crossing as there are about 15 tracks side by side. Standard cross-board warning signs are on each side of the tracks to warn motorists.

Turk scored the winning touchdown for the Mustangs, when he took the ball on the 16 yard line, and ran the remaining yards through tackle.

Taylor, Denney, Carlin, and Freese were on the Mustang line and played an outstanding game for their team. Players who looked good for the North Hill were McCormick, Kohler and McCoy.

New Castle High Defeats Martins Ferry 27-7

SOVESKY-Y-NOCERA STARS OF BATTLE

New Castle High Takes "Rubber Game" In Series With Martins Ferry High; Crowd Of Between 7,000 And 8,000 See Colorful Game Here Saturday; Eddie Sovesky And "Blackie" Nocera, Stars Of Contest; Frank Swiger Is Mainstay Of Visiting Team; Visitors Tally First On Pass; New Castle Comes From Behind To Win Decisive Victory.

A powerful "Red Hurricane" swept across the velvety greensward of Taggart Stadium Saturday afternoon and caught a big Purple and White hard riding football team from Martins Ferry in its path and literally lifted the invaders from the Ohio River Valley off their feet to score a convincing 27 to 7 grid victory.

New Castle High never looked better as the Red and Black colors were hoisted to the top of the pole. Eddie "Peaches" Sovesky was responsible for two of the touchdowns; "Blackie" Nocera accounted for one, and Gender made the fourth one. Martins Ferry could only cross the goal line once and that was early in the second period. A stalwart New Castle line staved off a Martins Ferry touchdown threat in the first period.

The final three periods of the game here Saturday were packed full of thrills galore. The crowd of between 7,000 and 8,000 sat intense as the "Red Hurricane" an alert eleven, went about the business of piling up touchdowns. This was the "Rubber Game," each team having won one game previously. New Castle was elated by the stunning triumph.

Stopped At Goal

The game started out with a series of fumbles. First Martins Ferry and then New Castle. Finally the nervous tension was lifted and the boys settled down to real football. Not long after the kickoff Swiger was making a few first downs for the visitors until finally the ball was down on the 8-yard line after Swiger again had carried the ball 25 yards from the New Castle 33. Bridenbaugh rushed Piccuta and MacNeill into the game for Kulis and Howley. Here began a real honest to goodness goal line stand. In four tries, the Martins Ferry boys were stopped right at the very goal line. Dombroski booted the ball out of danger and the scoring threat was over. Swiger kicked back to Sovesky and near the end of the period it was Martins Ferry's ball on a fumble by Micaletti on the New Castle 27-yard line. Swiger fumbled and New Castle recovered on the New Castle 28-yard line. Lauro lateraled to Sovesky and the latter dropped the ball, it was recovered by Heffelfinger of Martins Ferry on the New Castle 33-yard line. The first period ended 0-0.

Tally On Pass

The "Purple Riders" went into action here and it was not long until the first touchdown was recorded. Swiger picked up five yards and then made it first down on the New Castle 23-yard line. Negus ran the ball through tackle to the New Castle 12-yard line for another first down. Swiger passed one to Davis over the right side of the line and the latter raced over the goal line unopposed. Swiger passed to Laules for the extra point. The Perry stands went into hysterics. The New Castle stands were strangely quiet.

Seven points looked awfully big at this point of the game. Then out of a clear sky the "Red Hurricane" tied up the old ball game and things began to look rosy again. Mandon kicked off to Micaletti and Ray ran the ball back to the New Castle 45-yard line. Micaletti then ran the ball to the Martins Ferry 35-yard line. Lauro passed one to Nocera and the latter was hauled down on the Martins Ferry 21-yard line.

Nocera Tallies

Sovesky made three and then New Castle lost the ball on downs on the Martins Ferry 15-yard line. Swiger kicked to Sovesky who made a nice 17-yard return. Lauro passed one to Nocera from the New Castle 45-yard line and Nocera after gathering in the ball and helped by fine blocking and interference made his way over the goal line after outdistancing the Martins Ferry safety man. Rousseau kicked the extra point to tie up the game at 7-7.

Rousseau kicked off to the visitors and Martins Ferry had the ball on their own 40 when the first half ended. It was 7-7.

Martins Ferry took the kickoff at the start of the third period and Swiger began his ball totting activities again. Finally the visitors were stopped after Swiger had fumbled a bad pass from center and he kicked the ball out of bounds on the New Castle 45-yard line. Sovesky and Micaletti carried the ball on a series of plays to the Martins Ferry 45-yard line. Lauro stepped back and heaved a long pass that Eddie Sovesky gathered in and raced behind perfect interference for a touchdown. It was good for about 45 yards. Rousseau converted the extra point by placement. New Castle led 14 to 7. The period ended on a 55-yard gallop. Again the New Castle linemen formed almost perfect blocking for the fleet Sovesky. Rousseau again made the extra point on a nice placement. New Castle 21, Martins Ferry 7.

Rousseau kicked off to Martins Ferry, but the visitors were about through for the afternoon. Trailing 14 points and the game about five minutes from the end, Coach Bridenbaugh began to put in his second stringers. Lauro passed one to Micaletti that ended on the Martins Ferry 15. It was good for 25 yards. New Castle lost the ball on a pass over the goal line and it was the Purple Riders ball on their own 20-yard line.

Swiger after trying a few passes kicked to Sovinski on the New Castle 45-yard line and the former Ben Franklin boy returned it to the Martins Ferry 25-yard line before being forced out of bounds.

Gender Scores Fourth

Ciello went into the New Castle backfield. Sovinski passed to Higgins that ended up on the Martins Ferry 7-yard line. Ciello made his way to the Martins Ferry 5-yard line. Ciello then made his way to the Martins Ferry half-yard line and Gender carried it over. There was just a minute and half

Locals Out-Firstdowned
Strange as it seems, Martins Ferry had more first downs than did New Castle, eight to seven. The game was very clean and hard fought.

The bouquets go to Eddie Sovesky, Nocera and Lauro of the New Castle team, along with Frankie Swiger, the human workhorse in the Martins Ferry backfield. The playing of Dombroski and Rousseau featured on the New Castle line.

Catholics Win Over Keystone

Gabby DeCaprio Scores Lone Touchdown In 6-0 Battle Played Sunday

Pushing the ball deep into their opponents' territory as the clock ticked off the final few minutes of play, the Catholic football team opened the season auspiciously, scoring a 6-0 victory over the Keystone, Sunday afternoon, at Rossmore grounds. About 1,000 persons watched the tussle.

The Cats threatened during the first half but the Keys held. Taking the oval on their own 20, the Cats pushed the hog-hide to the 5 where Gabby DeCaprio plunged it over. Louis Leonard, ex New Castle high star, and Jake Rega were outstanding for the Keys. The entire Catholic team played well.

Martins Ferry Given Welcome

Ceremonies Take Place At Taggart Stadium On Saturday Afternoon

BANDS TAKE PART IN GALA PROGRAM

Repaying a host of courtesies of a year ago, New Castle entertained Martins Ferry, O., Saturday afternoon, October 16, at Taggart Stadium and as far as we are able to judge this rainy Monday morning the home folks held up their end.

"Scusin' that couple of hours the two school boys battled out on the sod, the visit of Martins Ferry couldn't help but have been a friendly affair and in that couple of hours New Castle High school returned the compliment of 1937 when a very fine Perry team sent our boys out on the short end of the score.

Parade And Speeches
It was quite a day. Quite. At 1:30 a parade of the two school bands and a lot of rooters started from the downtown section with the Martins Ferry band holding the right of the line, that is they headed the parade, with the dignitaries in automobiles.

Arriving at the stadium, Mayor Charles E. McGrath of New Castle escorted Mayor Lee Woods of Martins Ferry to the press box where both of them spoke. Mayor McGrath reminded the Perry folks of their friendliness of a year ago and didn't even promise that New Castle would win the game Saturday. Mayor Woods responded by thanking Mayor McGrath and the city of New Castle for its hospitality and then said Martins Ferry would win the game.

Carl E. Crawford, general superintendent of the Shenango plant, Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, welcomed and welcomed the host of tin workers from Martins Ferry who were here with Earl Thompson, former assistant general superintendent at Shenango and now general superintendent at Martins Ferry.

Field Ceremonies
Out on the field the ceremonies were worthy of a world series. The two bands paraded together, with color bearers and guards at their head. With the bands were their directors, D. G. Cochran of Martins Ferry and Joe Replogle of New Castle.

Heading the two bands were some Boy Scouts who carried the American flag to the pole and with the band playing the Star Spangled Banner and George Anthon leading the spectators in the singing of it, the flag was hoisted to the top of the pole.

Overhead a couple of airplanes wheeled and zoomed above the stadium, while over on the practice field, daylight fireworks were exploding now and then, releasing the colors of each school with a roar and a whine. It was a grand preliminary to a football game.

Between the third and fourth quarter of the football game, the Martins Ferry band was refreshed with hot dogs and pop and this little gesture was copied from the hospitable Perry folks from last year.

Like the two preceding games between the two teams the one on Saturday lacked nothing but the thing that spoils a football game, rowdism. The two rival crowds of rooters were intense in their partisanship but fair. There was no suggestion of anything but hard football on the field and the sportsmanship exhibited by New Castle fans after the game was the kind that should hold good every game.

New Castle won the game but this wasn't the biggest feature of the game. That was the fact that friendly relations between the two cities were cemented even more solidly and New Castle wants Martins Ferry on the schedule next year.

And with that fine bunch of sophomores getting a year's seasoning, they'll probably make things tough at Martins Ferry next year.

Fannins Score Over West Side

Final Score Of Grid Fracas Sunday Afternoon Is 12 To 0

Victory No. 2 was registered by the Fannins of the South Side on Sunday afternoon when they defeated the West Side Tigers, 12-0. Recovering a fumble on the 20, the Slatbourns scored when Cople plunged over. On an off tackle play, Bob Jones, the West Siders threatened twice but to no avail. Small was the best on the line for the Fannins while Jones, Cople and Palkovitch did well in the backfield.

The Fannins will drill this week for their next foe, the Catholics, Sunday at Centennial field.

Whitman In College Squad

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 18.—Among the candidates for the Titan line at Westminster is Floyd Whitman, son of Walt Whitman, high school principal, New Wilmington.

Whitman, a freshman, weighs 160 pounds, and although without high school experience, should develop into good line material. In New Wilmington, high Whitman played mushball, volleyball, basketball, played in the orchestra and the band, participated in class plays, was on the school paper and was basketball manager. He is a major in the department of chemistry.

The aspirant in the Titan line is John Gubrecht, a major in the department of economics, was active in intramural sports, basketball and baseball. He weighs 160 pounds and will probably see action in the Titan forward wall during the season.

Warren High Is Here On Friday

Warren Will Send Strong Team Here On Friday Night

New Castle will play its final home night game this coming Friday night with the powerful Warren, O., eleven. The game will start at eight o'clock. Warren last week defeated Toledo Catholic high a 33 to 0 upsetting.

The locals will return to the practice field for a light drill in the rain this afternoon. Warren will be a tough foe this week. The "Red Hurricane" is all pepped up over the 27 to 7 victory over the "Feries" Saturday.

There were no serious injuries in the game Saturday, so New Castle is at full strength for the Presidents when the mazdas are turned on Friday night.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

There was plenty of competition in the bird dog events Saturday at the New Castle fair grounds where sportsmen held a field day. There were numerous entries but the dogs were judged easy for the judges. According to the judges, the quality of the dogs is improving with each succeeding field day. Joy Gay Girl was the tops in the all age event, which recalls she won first at DuBois and her little brother, Gay Jiggs got third in the DuBois event. Gay Jiggs won here last year.

Joy Gay Girl is a setter and her pup, Highland Valley, won second in the Derby stake. The dogs are owned and handled by John Seward of this city. No line on the coon dogs could be secured as the results were not turned over to General Chairman Cypher or the writer who was at the exhibition stand. No doubt they will be turned in tonight. The counter attractions kept the crowd from being as large as usual.

Andrew Swedko, the 1936 golf champion of Allegheny county parks, defeated his title Sunday at Pittsburgh with a 2 and 1 win over Steve Borovich, a former champion, in the 36-hole final round.

Highways leading to the deer country were crowded yesterday and many local big game hunters were along the road. Many of them went to the country to get places to stay during the hunting season. Some of them reported seeing deer.

HOODS WIN GAME
The Hoods Midgets football team handed the Centennial A. C. a 20 to 12 defeat Saturday morning at Centennial field. Gunther, Glassie and Kimmel led the attack for the Hoods. Jenkins had the longest run of the game, a 35-yard canter.

Tech In Grid Spotlight As Pitt Is Tied

Tech Subdues Notre Dame; Fordham Holds Panthers; Penn State Wins

W. J. TIED; ALLEGHENY WINS GRID BATTLE

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18.—Hoot mon! Whata game! A super super-thriller if ever there was one, played in that same sensation-packed manner which has made these grid clashes between the Scotch and Irish quite famous... and its no wonder the shrill dulcet tones of the highlanders' bagpipes resounded joyfully while the hieroglyphic Scotchmen from Pittsburgh celebrated today the stunning 9-7 upset of the Notre Dame Irish, at Pittsburgh Saturday.

The Nittany Lions made it three straight but only after subduing a surprisingly stubborn crew of engineers from Lehigh, 14 to 7. Although anticipating a tough struggle, the Penn State eleven had its hands full in downing its old opponent. The win came as a result of a freak pass which Alex Barantovitch caught while lying flat on his back in the end zone.

Allegheny Wins
Franklin and Marshall took a one-game lead in its series with Muhlenberg by soundly trouncing the visitors, 22-6. Albright's hope for an undefeated, untied season went by the boards when Ursinus held the Reddingites to a scoreless decision.

Up Meadowville way, Allegheny came back strong in the second period to wash out Hiram's lead and take the off, 21-19. Gettysburg spilled Drexel 13-6 and Lock Haven pumped Kutztown 33-7. Dickinson's third quarter lead was equalled by Washington and Jefferson in the final chapter and the game ended in a 7-all knot.

Other Results
Out of state, Penn. for the second consecutive week, took a severe shelling, this time from Columbia, 26 to 6. Villanova whipped Manhattan 20-0 and Fordham and Pitt wound up in another scoreless affair. Lafayette took Georgetown, East Stroudsburg 31, Edinboro, O. J. 7; Indiana 31, Trenton (N. J.) 13; Grove City 6; Mansfield 12; Bloomsburg, 0; Shippensburg 27; Shepherd 0; CCNY 8; Susquehanna 6; Thiel 7; Clarion 0; out of state: Lebanon Valley 23; Lehigh 1; Hampton-Snyder 20; Swarthmore 0; Hartwick 0, Moravian 0; Morgan 19, Lincoln (Pa.) 6; and Wesleyan 6, Haverford 0.

Wabash Bears Defeat Frisco

Grid Battle At Mahoningtown, Sunday Close; Score 7 To 6

In an independent grid tussle loaded with action from start to finish, the smooth functioning Wabash Bears chalked up their second victory of the season Sunday afternoon at the E. & A. grounds, noosing out the Frisco A. C. 7-6.

The visitors drew first blood, L. Koah flipping a pass to Marshall, who ran 75 yards for a touchdown. The placement was wide. In one of the cleverest plays seen in some time, the Seventh Warders crossed their foes' goal line in the end. Frisco picked up a lateral from A. Russo, who in turn tossed to Tommelio who in turn tossed to Tommelio who ran for a touchdown. A pass, L. Piccuta to Adamo, resulted in the seventh point. Frisco threatened in the third but was stopped.

Ship Russo and Monk Rainey were outstanding for the Bears; Marshall, Hazen and Maize played brilliantly for the Frisco eleven. About 3,000 fans gathered for the battle. On Sunday, October 24, the Bears oppose the Youngstown Merchants on the E. & A. grounds. Referee Piccuta, Head Linesman Cowmeadow, Timers C. Hazen and R. Casper officiated efficiently.

Surprises Plentiful In Saturday Games

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Not wishing to make anything out of it in particular, but I notice that the Notre Dame starting backfield against Carnegie Tech on Saturday included guys named McCormick and O'Reilly. The final score was Carnegie Tech 9, Notre Dame 7 and personally, I'm beginning to wonder whether Notre Dame hasn't become too basic, while nobody was noticing.

In other words, have the Irish gone and got too Gaelic? There must be some answer to a performance that includes a scoreless tie with futile Illinois on one Saturday and a defeat by frustrated Carnegie Tech on the next. The latter hadn't beaten anybody before.

It provided, as a matter of fact, the most arresting development of a Saturday that succeeded mostly, not in clarifying issues, but in confusing them. The day, for instance, produced no less than seven major ties, a performance almost unheard of in intercollegiate football.

Another Upset.
In addition it produced a second first-turnover with the defeat of hitherto-unbeaten Cornell by Syracuse, 14 to 6. In this connection, I might add that few took into consideration the fact that Syracuse itself was unbeaten and that in modern football, with its emphasis on passing, you're a "click" one minute and a cluck the next.

The Irish gained 235 yards from scrimmage to 7. That sounds like one of those tap room brawls in which you win the magistrate's disapproval but save your teeth. "One has to, in fact, go all the way back to the Mr. "Hunk" Anderson regime to find Notre Dame tying one insignificant team one week-end and losing to another the next.

On in point of further fact, must recall that Notre Dame did better with its Vyzek's and McDixonskis. Apparently, that Irish business can be taken too seriously.

Actually, Notre Dame, in the modern scheme of things, has reached a point where it can look for nothing better than a stand-off with the ever changing situation, having good teams and bad, just like Minnesota, Alabama, Southern California, Texas Christian and Duke.

The latter, as a matter of fact, has yet to have a bad team under Wallace Wade but came pretty close on Saturday when, after a scoreless tie with Tennessee, it pulled out a 20-19 win against Georgia Tech by capitalizing on two breaks. Otherwise, this might have been one of many games that produced bloodless and decisionless ties.

Seven Major Ties.
All told, there were seven major ties during the day, a fact almost unheard of in college football. Four of them—Fordham vs. Pitt, Navy vs. Harvard, Nebraska vs. Oklahoma and Utah State vs. Idaho—were scoreless, with U. C. L. A. and Oregon State, Washington and Washington State and Texas Christian and Texas Aggies turning in the others.

Nebraska and Pitt thus saved unbeaten records that can be used to advantage in November but, without a doubt, those ties are going to help Oklahoma and Fordham more than they hurt the other pair.

Briefly, the Saturday program produced nothing very definite, barring the first defeats of Notre Dame and Cornell. The eastern situation still remains anybody's ball season, with a half dozen teams in the going. In the south, Alabama has advanced to the front rank, with Duke only a half-stride behind. In the mid-west it's Northwestern, with Ohio State and Minnesota yet to definitely declare themselves.

In the southwest, nobody's really the top team yet and won't be for some weeks to come, what with the way they string their season out there. Nebraska, winner over Minnesota, ought to be top team in the Big Six, but so far isn't. On the coast, it's evident that they'll pay off on the California-U. S. C. game late in November.

Some scores that matter and others that don't:
East—Yale 15, Army 7; Fordham 0, Pitt 0; Navy 0, Harvard 0; Syracuse 14, Cornell 6; N. Y. U. 59, St. John's 0; Tulane 7, Colgate 6; Columbia 26, Pennsylvania 6; Villanova 20, Manhattan 0; Holy Cross 7, Georgia 6; Carnegie Tech 9, Notre Dame 7; Dartmouth 41, Brown 0.

Mid-west—Indiana 13, Illinois 6; Minnesota 29, Michigan 6; Northwestern 14, Purdue 7; Wisconsin 13, Iowa 6; Nebraska 0, Oklahoma 0; Kansas State 13, Marquette 0; Kansas 14, Iowa State 0; Michigan State 2, Missouri 0; Princeton 16, Chicago 7.

South—Alabama 14, Tennessee 7; Duke 20, Georgia Tech 19; Vanderbilt 6, Southern Methodist 0; Florida 21, Sewanee 0; North Carolina State 7, V. P. I. 0; Maryland 3, Virginia 0; Auburn 33, Mississippi State 7; Kentucky 41, W. L. 6; Arkansas 21, Texas 10; Baylor 20, Centenary 0; Texas Christian 7, Texas Aggies 7.

Far west—Southern California 34, Oregon 14; Washington 7, Washington State 7; U. C. L. A. 7, Oregon State 7; Colorado 14, Brigham Young 0; Utah 7, Graceland 6; Utah State 0, Idaho 0; Wyoming, Colorado State 0.

Joy Gay Girl Is All Age Winner

Several Thousand Persons Attend Sportsmen's Meet Here Saturday

HUNTERS SHOOT AT RUNNING DEER

Several thousand persons attended the fourth annual field day of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's council which was held Saturday at the New Castle Fair Grounds. The day was crisscrossed with activities, all to the liking of hunters. There was some good shooting, splendid dogs exhibited and some nice prizes awarded. The general chairman was James Cypher.

Joy Gay Girl took top honors in the all-age event for bird dogs, and Seaview Walley duplicated the feat in the derby stake. Highfield Walley, a setter, took second place in the derby stake which added to Seward's laurels because he also owned and handled Joy Gay Girl. Edward Borger of Utica, owned all of the dogs which won first, second and third prizes in the all-age event for the Spaniels.

Dick Buchanan won the five-mile bicycle race, winning as a prize an English racing bicycle.

Results of the day:

All Age Bird Dogs

Joy Gay Girl, setter, owned and handled by John Seward, first; Skinner's Spot, setter, owned and handled by C. D. Skinner, Evans City, second; North Liberty Bob, pointer, owned and handled by T. A. George, North Liberty, third.

Derby Stake

Seaview Walley, pointer, owned and handled by T. M. Morris, Darlington, first; Highfield Walley, setter, owned and handled by John Seward, New Castle, second; Nellie Mackie, setter, owned and handled by Sloan MacRae, Grove City, third.

The foregoing events were judged by Gene Gallagher of Grove City.

All Age Spaniels

Cotton Tail, pointer, owned by Edward Borger, Utica, first; Royal Crook, owned by Edward Borger, Utica, second.

Derby Stake

Roy Crook, owned by Edward Borger, Utica, first; Plesh, owned by Al Wright, Youngstown, second. The Spaniels were judged by Harry McCormick.

Beagle-15 Inch

Beagle-13 Inch

Peter's Midge, owned by J. B. Peters, Mars, first; Hetrick's Jack, owned by H. K. Hetrick, Mahoning, second; Hummel's Queen, owned by Mr. Hummel, Beaver Falls, third. The Beagle events were judged by Clark Hetrick, C. A. Hetrick, C. D. Snyder, Earl McCormick and Tommy O'Brien.

Bicycle Race

Dick Buchanan, first; James Robinson, second, and Ernie Withers, third.

Running Deer

Andy McCormick and E. McBride of the Utica City Rod and Gun club, operated the running deer, (operated by wires) which proved a big attraction for the men with high powered rifles. The most number of points attainable was 20 but this number was not obtained. Scores were made as follows: Rohrer, Fleischer, Horton and Moore, 12 points; and Houk and McCormick, 10 points.

The rising bear also attracted shooters. A bear was pulled from a pit and allowed to show, then dropped back. Some good scores were made in this kind of shooting. Both the rising bear and running deer events were held in the hollow, north of the fair grounds.

Prizes Awarded

During the day prizes were awarded to Bill Ferver, 727 Norwood avenue; Hazel Carr, Bessemer; E. M. Kerr, White street; E. Eisenberg, Ellwood City; Dick Morgan, Walnut; P. C. Moorehead, Slippery Rock; R. D. C. The prizes consisted of reading lamps, auto oil, auto polish and other articles. Not all of them were claimed and persons can determine the other winners at the Army and Navy store, according to Chairman James Cypher.

SHOOT EVENTS

In the Lewis Class, Trapshoot, Pitts and Wilkinson tied for top prize with 47 hits of 50. The other results will be announced later, the committee not yet having them compiled. Some of the results of the string were:

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—"What's the matter with Notre Dame?" is the question most often submitted to this department since Bob Zupple's embattled Irish stepped the rambling Irish in their tracks. Well there are any number of answers for that one...to begin with, Zupple pointed for Notre Dame and when Zupple points he isn't polite...Illinois' team spirit was tuned to conundrum pitch...and technically, Illinois' eight-man line throttled the running attack and gave the Notre Dame passers fits.

But, aside from that, we have testimony of a new kind to offer...Jack Ledden, South Bend sports editor, takes pen in hand to give the "Notre Dame no longer is able to dominate the nation from a material viewpoint. Every opponent on the Irish schedule from here on in has superior material. The Irish abundance of cley or perf...abundance of clever performers in the ball-carrying department. Furthermore, for the benefit of many of you who may think this is just an off-year, here's a prediction. The freshman team has nothing great coming up. In fact, Coach Layden is dropping the idea of using freshmen teams to demonstrate rival offenses. Instead, the B squad will be used for this duty."

Jack Keeps Track of 'Em
"Many reasons will be advanced for the sudden failure of good players to enter Notre Dame. The most obvious one is a gradual drift toward the No. 1 spot in the Purity League, Eligibility standards at Notre Dame today are as strict as any in the country. For you who scoff when this remark is made I can point to a list of 25 fine 1936 freshmen players who did not return to Notre Dame as sophomores because of scholastic difficulties. If you're from the Big Ten, be careful about taking up this offer for at least 10 of the better ones now are enrolled as freshmen in Major John Griffith's touted circuit.

"This article is not authored with an idea of running down the reputations of the boys who now sport the Blue and Gold. Every player on this year's Notre Dame team is putting out the best he's got, and if half of the critics had to take the licking some of the smaller fellows are getting, local hospitals would be overcrowded with people who think they can take it."

Ledden points out that in the Illinois game Bunny McCormick, undersized halfback, had a tooth kicking out and his upper lip split on the second play; 165-pound Carle O'Reilly had an eye closed and should be injured, and Andy Pupils, 170 pounds and five feet nine, had an eye closed and a shoulder hurt in the second quarter. The ferocity of the tackling indicated how "hopped up" the squad was over the prospect of beating Notre Dame.

"Some time ago," Ledden continues, "we reported Notre Dame needed a left halfback. This statement still holds true. Jack McCormack is trying hard, but his passing is inaccurate, and his blocking just fair. Until Coach Layden locates a left halfback you cannot expect the Irish to show much of a running game against the remaining opponents on this year's schedule."

"Another backfield spot with definite weakness is fullback. Simonich lacks speed and seems to have lost the power which made him a good punker a year ago. He also is weak on pass defense."

Well, there's some of the evidence from South Bend. The case cannot be given to the jury, however, until Thanksgiving. The defense will now begin its rebuttal.

West Pittsburg Trims Bessemer

Score Is 12-4; Series For County Sandlot Title Is Deadlocked

Resorting to the same attack used by the famous New York Yankees, the West Pittsburg aggregation, City League champs, went on a batting spree to defeat Bessemer, 12-4, Sunday afternoon at Bessemer. Today, the series for the Lawrence County sandlot title is at a standstill, each club having won a pair of victories. The Bessemers took a one run lead in the first only to have their foes deadlock matters in the second. Again the Cement City team forged to the front, sending over a pair of runs in the fifth. Then, it commenced to rain base hits to the left and base hits to the right. After the smoke had cleared away, West Pittsburg had six runs. In the eighth, West Pittsburg pushed over five more.

M. Markey and James Markey contributed to the attack, smashing out homers. M. Markey also plastered out a triple. Hardesty and Nord were the feature hitters for Bessemer.

Whether or not the series will be continued is unknown. If it isn't both teams can lay claim to coveted laurels.

Mr. Majors has been stationed here for the last year as the steel workers organizing committee field director for the New Castle-Ellwood City area. He is now being transferred to the Johnstown field to do organizing work.

The party was quite impromptu, notification of Mr. Majors' transfer having been made public only last Thursday evening. The arrangement committee was unable to get to more than a few of Mr. Majors' close friends and co-workers, and therefore the party consisted of only the principal officers of steel union lodges in Ellwood City, including committeemen from the National Tube lodge.

James J. Corrigan served as toastmaster in his own inimitable style. A second guest of honor was Walter J. Payne, who replaced Mr. Majors here as field director. Mr. Payne regaled the gathering with many songs and witty stories, as well as giving a serious talk on organization.

All those present wished Mr. Majors success in the new field, as well as promising Mr. Payne full co-operation in the work of the S. W. O. C. in Ellwood City.

Bridge and 500 at five tables held the attention of the guests throughout the evening with lovely prizes awarded to Miss Elizabeth Smith for 500 and to Miss Helen Lamenza for bridge.

At a seasonable hour the tables were re-arranged and the guests served a dainty repast by the hostesses aided by Mrs. Corrigan's mother, Mrs. Harry White. A beautiful pink and white color scheme was carried out in the appointments.

An array of very lovely and useful gifts for use in her future home were presented to the guest of honor who responded in a gracious manner.

"Repeal Has Failed", Scott McBride Says

Nationally Known Temperance Worker Addresses Wurtemburg Churches

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 18.—"Repeal has failed" was the charge leveled by Dr. P. Scott McBride, state superintendent of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League, in an address given last evening before a combined audience of the Wurtemburg Methodist and Wurtemburg United Presbyterian churches at the former church in a community temperance rally.

As former national superintendent of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League, in an address given last evening before a combined audience of the Wurtemburg Methodist churches at the former church in a community temperance rally.

As former national superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, Dr. McBride has traveled from east to west and from north to south and he declared that this charge was true in every state of the union.

Temperance advocates would welcome the return of the old-time places in preference to the licensed places of today, the speaker said. A few weeks ago the National Council of Safety stated that they did not consider drunkenness a cause of accidents, but today, the speaker said, they report that a majority of accidents are attributed to intoxicated drivers.

The state anti-saloon league together with other dry forces of the state has succeeded in blocking legislation prohibiting the sale of intoxicants at ball parks, movies, grocery stores, etc. Dr. McBride urged that the voters send dry legislators to Harrisburg.

Testimonial For Samuel Battersby

Knights Of Malta Honor Samuel Battersby At Dinner On Saturday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 18.—The most notable event in Knights of Malta circles in this locality in recent years occurred Saturday night at the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church, when a testimonial dinner was given for Samuel Battersby of 517 First avenue, in recognition of his election to the office of grand secretary of the Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania at their last Grand Commandery session in Johnstown in May of this year.

Approximately 120 of Sam's friends and co-workers in the order were present to assist him in doing away with a fine chicken dinner prepared by the Ladies Aid society of the above mentioned church.

The following gave short talks as to the esteem in which the guest of the evening was held by them and his other friends: Past Grand Commander Clarence L. Spahr of Tarentum, Past Grand Commander Matthias M. Langdale of Homewood, Past Grand Commander Burr G. French of Erie, Deputy Grand Commander C. B. Bracken of Greensburg, and Past Commander George B. Robertson of Youngstown, O.

The main address of the evening was presented by Past Grand Commander Alfred C. Lockard of Freeport, who gave a splendid definition of his test: "Choose ye this day whom ye shall serve," using as examples, Joshua, Paul, Ruth and Solomon, and shaping his remarks around the life and services of Sam. Battersby.

Mr. Battersby responded, using as his subject, "Church, Malta and Christianity", stating that

Stock Market Is Quiet Today

Most Price Changes Are Of Fractional Proportions During Morning

By LESLIE GOULD

International News Service

Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The stock market was a mixed and comparatively quiet affair today, with most price changes of fractional proportions.

Steel shares reflected the uncertain outlook for production figures, losing up to a point in Bethlehem, U. S. Steel and Youngstown.

Chrysler was under pressure in the motor division, slipping close to 2 points before meeting support. General Motors and the lower-priced Packard and Studebaker, though, held slightly above Saturday's final quotations.

Rails displayed an irregular trend. Atchafalaya, Chesapeake & Ohio and Southern Pacific lost some ground, but Union Pacific spurted more than 3 points at the opening, as Pennsylvania and Illinois Central moved up fractionally.

Several blue-chips were down a point or more. Allied Chemical dropped more than 2 points, while Johns-Manville and American Can lost half a point. Westinghouse converted a gain of 1½ points into a fractional loss.

Coppers were mixed. Anaconda and International Nickel gained moderately as Kennecott and Cerro de Pasco lost ground.

Standard Oil of California and United Airlines were among the few stocks to reach new lows for the year. Case in the farm implements was independently strong, climbing more than 2 points.

In the County of Common Pleas of Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, No. 10, September Term, 1937.
To John P. Leslie, or his legal representatives, or whoever may be the holder or holders of the mortgage hereinafter mentioned:
Take notice that on September 21st, 1937, William H. Butler and Francis M. Butler, presented their petition averring that they are the owners of a certain parcel of land in Slippery Rock Township, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, consisting of 541 acres and formerly owned by the Lone Star Oil Company, the Plymouth Rock Oil Company and Robert H. Foxwell, fully described in the petition filed at the above number and term.

That an unsatisfied mortgage upon said premises remains of record in the office of the Recorder of Deeds of said Lawrence County given by John W. Taylor to John P. Leslie in the amount of $2,184.00 and recorded in mortgage book Vol. 16, page 846 and that the period of twenty-one years has elapsed since the principal of said mortgage became due and payable and no payment has been made within the said period of either principal or interest and praying for satisfaction thereof. ## Pulaski Farmers Arrayed Against Per Capita Tax

Claim Tax Collector Moore Illegally Distrained Property For Tax

MOORE CLAIMS RIGHT TO MAKE COLLECTION

Nearly one hundred citizens of Pulaski township trooped through the rain this morning to the Lawrence county court house, where a hearing was scheduled before Judge W. Walter Braham on a controversy that has arisen over an attempt to collect a $5 per capita school tax.

The controversy was brought to a climax Saturday, October 9 when Guy Van Meter and Melvin Gregg, secured a preliminary injunction, restraining J. R. Moore, tax collector, from distraining and selling personal property of residents for the per capita tax.

Mr. Van Meter testified this morning that J. R. Smith, a deputy tax collector, appointed by Moore, had levied upon, and had been about to sell, a portion of his personal property for the tax of $5, when the injunction was secured. He claimed that the proceeding was irregular, in that no bills of sale had been posted after the levy was made, and furthermore that the collector had no right to collect by distress proceedings.

Melvin Gregg testified that no demand had been made upon him for the 1934 taxes, nor for 1935 taxes and that the deputy levied upon him for $6.95 in each case, whereas but 5 per cent is allowed for collection. Gregg said he was working in a field when the deputy went to his house and distrained his goods. He had passed the deputy on the road but no demand to pay was made. He said he would have paid if this had been done. No printed notice of a proposed sale was posted on his premises.

Elizabeth Huff, who lives on the New Wilmington-Pulaski road, told about a deputy coming to her home. She said that without saying anything he had started to make an inventory of her personal property for sale. She owed the per capita tax for 1933 and 1934, and the levy was made for $7.01 in each case. No bills were posted on her premises.

On cross examination she was asked if she had not seen bills posted to the effect that the collector was going to proceed to collect the taxes. She said that she had not.

Frank Harry who lives on the Pulaski-New Bedford road, who owed the 1935 per capita tax, said that he had told Moore that he did not need to sue him, that if others paid the tax he was willing to pay it, but he did not think it fair that only a part of the taxpayers should pay. He said that he had afterwards paid $16.40 for himself and wife, and that the costs on this were $5.90.

Frank Cover claimed that he had paid $6.95 after his goods had been distrained and the collector had threatened to sell them. Of this amount he said that $1.70 was costs.

C. H. Shields also gave testimony along the same line.

Joseph Durban claimed that three of his cows had been sold for the per capita tax, being bid in by a deputy collector for $32. The cows, he said, were worth about $70 apiece. He had refused to let the cows be driven away, and an appeal was made to the sheriff for authority to remove them.

Sheriff Pritchard told about being called about the sale, and had called Collector Moore about it. He said that Moore had told him the sale was alright, and he had told Durban that he would have to let the cows be taken away. Later they were returned but the $32 tax was collected.

There were a number of other cases along the same line. It appears that there has been considerable dissatisfaction over the per capita tax by property owners in Pulaski township, who questioned its legality and refused to pay.

The plaintiffs attorney Leroy Donaldson, argued that under the school code the per capita tax cannot be collected by distraint and that an unfair advantage has been taken of property owners in levying upon farmers and attempting to sell their property without posting any notices of sale.

The defendant's attorney R. L. Wallace, claimed that there had been no decision of the supreme court on the question involved, but claimed that under various acts, the per capita tax could be collected the same as any other tax. He argued that the school code did not interfere with the acts of 1834 as amended by the act of 1888.

After hearing the testimony and arguments, Judge Braham reserved his decision.

The Kelly triplets, born to Mrs. Thomas Kelly, of Astoria, L. I., set a record as the first born in the 84-year-old Lenox Hill Hospital in New York City. Papa Kelly asked the nurse "Is it a boy?" When the nurse said "It's a boy—and two girls," all Papa Kelly could say was "Wow!"

Where Is That Famous Feud?

Paul McNutt, United States High Commissioner to the Philippines, had something to say recently about precedence in the matter of toasts to officialdom. President Quezon answered that he never refused a drink. Here McNutt and Quezon are shown in Manila, the President of the island commonwealth obligingly lighting the commissioner's cigarette.

Conference On Parking Meters

Trial Period For Use Of Meters To Be Designated This Afternoon

COUNCIL DISCUSSES METER SITUATION

Members of city council and J. R. Rick of the New Castle Equipment company will confer this afternoon at city hall when it is anticipated a decision as to what date the trial period for parking meters here will start.

This was decided upon in council session at city hall this morning after Attorney Gilbert Long, assistant solicitor, ruled that inasmuch as only 437 meters as yet have been installed, the trial period has not yet started.

He advised that the city should either have the company install the 500 or agree to start the trial period with the number now in. If the latter is agreed upon the trial period will start legally.

Heretofore it was believed that the trial period was under way, owing to the installation. Four hundred and thirty seven of the 500 or more have been placed in the uptown business section.

Today's meter discussion was occasioned by Councilman B. P. Butler. He presented a resolution, which later he withdrew, in which he charged repairs had been necessary to several score meters.

His proposed resolution said he did not want to see the city purchase the meters if the expense was to be shouldered upon the city. Mayor Charles E. McGrath replied to Butler's proposed resolution. He pointed out that the company which manufactures the meters had one week ago replaced the mechanism in every meter installed here.

Butler told the mayor he did not know of the "change-over". Relative to the statement of Butler that the city had a contract with the New Castle Equipment company and not the meter manufacturing company for a six months trial, McGrath explained there was nothing wrong about this.

The mayor explained that the president of the meter manufacturing company had advised him some time ago the company would make a change-over of all the meters at no cost to the city. The mayor added this already had been done.

He reiterated that the city has not yet bought any meters and explained that the meters were installed for a trial period of six months. Attorney Long, then explained the trial period, legally, has not yet started.

Councilman Butler, satisfied with these explanations, decided to withdraw his proposed resolution as did Councilman Joseph Alexander a motion, which asked that the city find out from other communities the price the latter are paying for meters.

The mayor explained to colleagues that he would request Mr. Rick to confer with them today and added that, he does not believe there is anything that cannot be ironed out between the company and the city council.

Incidentally, the mayor also explained to his colleagues that since the man sent here by the Mark Time company had replaced the mechanism in all the meters, not one meter has become disarranged. Mr. Butler said he had had no knowledge of the "change over". The mayor said he had told some of the council about the intentions of the company and the latter had fulfilled the promise made to him about replacements.

Pushcarts Are Now On Way Out

New York Bans Vehicles Of Vegetable Hawkers For Sanitary Reasons

HONEYMOONERS ARE HAVING FUN

By O. O. McIntyre
NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Diary: A ray letter from Gene Fowler in Prague on his way to Doorn to see the ex-Kaiser, a joint post-card from the songsters Martinelli and Mme. Alma Claybergh in Vichy and an autographed copy of Wilfred Funk's newest book, "So You Think It's New."

On reading a macabre tale by Amrose Bierce with the central figure a man from Gallipoli, I wondered if Bierce had ever been there. So working, then to Conde Nast's party for Lucien Lelong, of Paris, and stayed so late we missed the Stork Club's gambado for Madge Evans, of the cinema.

To the Colony with Gene Crawley for a feast of O. O. McIntyre grouse. And Bertam Taylor sent over some scooping from a Spanish melon plugged with Jamaica rum and lemon, mighty delicious. Then chatting a moment with Aksel and the wellgroomed Fifi Widener Wichfield about our dogs. And to my couch.

The end of pushcarts in the metropolis is at hand. An editorialist, commenting thereupon, observes: "The minute anything becomes picturesque in this country we (a) abolish it or (b) make a museum piece of it." The pushcart has been on its way out for some years, but Mayor La Guardia seems to have given it the final push. It is argued, and doubtless deservedly that they crowd the streets, leave decaying vegetables and other refuse, and often hawk wares of dubious freshness. Gradually the metropolis has been establishing clean and sanitized open air markets in the areas of the pushcarts. This process will be widened until pushcarts go the way of slum lung blocks.

A study in the value of the cheer is forcibly illustrated by Dr. A. S. W.

Rosenbach, the bibliophile. A quiet, mouse-like man until he begins talking about rare editions, and almost immediately a room of chattering folk will grow silent to listen. I heard him in action several times at Major Bowes' apartment. Always everybody stops gabbing. He can make some musty old book you never heard of fairly glow with interest. I rarely leave him without a firm resolve to join the collectors.

What's the use-note: After years of collecting shaving brushes in various parts of the world I have been converted to a non-lathering shaving cream.

Interlude: On a swaying bus top last evening was one of those gentle old colored fellows, carefully dressed, a very black skin contrasting with the spotless white collar and tie and gold rimmed spectacles. He was the sort you see down front at the Baptist church singing a fog-horn bass to "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder." He was eating from a bag of peanuts, clutched between his knees and he'd give a great roll of cheeks and tongue, forcing fragments of nuts forward in his mouth where he could give them a lot of fast, choppy little bites with his front teeth, squirrel like. As he munched his eyes in a sort of ecstatic rapture and his beefsteak lips smacked a pleasant relish. He was about the happiest specimen I've seen since the market crack-up.

No honeymooners seem to be having more fun than Talullah Bankhead and her new husband. They are seeing all the openings from the downtown pews, ringsiding at the cafes and night clubs and indulging other explorations to see just exactly what makes Broadway tick. And few couples turn more heads, passing by.

Bagatelles: Mary Livingstone's real name is Sadie Marx. John D. Rockefeller likes to watch rehearsals at the Center Theater. Frieda Innescourt was once a social secretary to Lady Astor. Richard Watts not only squire his mother to almost every first night, but he betrays her with orchids. Max Marx, once a well known Broadway tailor, is in the business again with a Fifth Avenue firm. Elissa Landi is the most versatile linguist in the movie world.

Nocturne: Along the bay recent nights have been mottled cloud effects, thinly veiling the moon, creating an enchanting overhead. I am lulled under such a sky—as one is soothed among the cathedral-like poplars in the Rockies. It may be vain fancying, but somehow it all seems to suggest that somewhere there might be a sweet serenity far above our little battles. We wonder!
